What standards does Intertek use for ETL testing?

Intertek offers ETL lab testing against NOM standards such as: a. NOM-001-SCFI-1993 (based on IEC-60065) b. NOM-019-SCFI-1993 (based on IEC-60335-1) ETL testing methods generally depend on the test methods of the standards against which the test is done.

How a comprehensive energy storage system certification is conducted?

Our comprehensive energy storage system certification is conducted according to the following five-step approach: Our global network of experts is extensively experienced in the cross-industry inspection, testing and certification of energy storage systems.

Does ESS comply with UL 9540?

In the United States and Canada, ESS need to comply to UL 9540. The multiple components found within an ESS must also comply with the appropriate component standards. Intertek offers a complete UL 9540 certification solution, providing a one-stop-shop for evaluating and assisting manufacturers in testing.

How can ul help with large energy storage systems?

We conduct custom research to help identify and address the unique performance and safety issues associated with large energy storage systems. Research offerings include: UL can test your large energy storage systems (ESS) based on UL 9540 and provide ESS certification to help identify the safety and performance of your system.

Can a large energy storage system be certified?

no way to complete a regular certification. This is common when a large energy storage system is already installed in a location already but must be evaluated. A qualified inspector must examine that specific system in the field and place the certification safety mark on the system once it

What is ETL testing?

ETL is not a standard against which products can be tested. Instead, Intertek tests products against standards that are relevant for different countries, such as: As such, there are no "ETL standards". Instead, the ETL testing procedure is based on standards developed by other organizations.
