A spokesperson for Tesvolt, a German designer and manufacturer battery energy storage systems, told Energy-Storage.news that the demand for large-scale storage systems up to 10MWh is currently increasing. The Innovation Tenders are a significant driver of this demand, along with a growing number of hydrogen projects.

The UK's buoyant BESS market kicked things off with a 200MW competitive solicitation for ancillary services in 2016, while more recently the Australian government has committed to rolling out tenders for dispatchable low carbon energy that could only be achieved with the involvement of energy storage resources.

The New South Wales (NSW) government's largest energy storage tender in the state's history has now opened, offering support for up to 1 GW of projects that can each release energy into the state's grid for at least eight hours, equivalent to the daily energy consumption of 505,000 houses.. In concert with the launch of the NSW Electricity Infrastructure Roadmap ...

Over a gigawatt of bids from battery storage project developers have been successful in the first-ever competitive auctions for low-carbon energy capacity held in Japan. A total 1.67GW of projects won contracts, including 32 battery energy storage system (BESS) totalling 1.1GW and three pumped hydro energy storage (PHES) projects totalling 577MW.
